

Hitler Faces Grim Winter with Shortages of Food and War Materials Growing More Acute

By EDWIN SHANKE
LONDON, Nov. 17.—The Allied blows in North Africa struck Nazi Germany at a time when it was entering the grimmest winter of the war.
From the standpoint of five determining factors of war—military, economic and political strength, tenacity of Allies and morale—Germany is at a crossroads.
It is not a question of a "turnip winter" like that in 1917 which presaged the fall of imperial Germany. Reichsmarshal Goering already has told the world the suppressed peoples will starve before Germany does.
But Germany has eaten through her reserves despite the strictest rationing. This year's overall harvest is reported to be only 80 percent of normal.

Disorganized by war, flood, drought, peasant hoarding and guerrilla warfare, the rest of Europe is much worse off.
Economically Germany is hitting an all-time low. Most of the deterioration is traceable to manpower shortage and transportation knots. And Hitler still does not have the oil and rubber he covets.
In Russia, the war has proved a tremendous drain of economic resources for Germany and blockaded Europe, instead of filling the reservoir as had been hoped.
The North African occupation has cut off German's access to phosphates, cobalt, vegetable oils, manganese, antimony, wool cotton, fresh fruits and vegetables. Besides, it has closed a leak in the blockade through which Hitler was getting Far Eastern supplies such as rubber.

Hitler has exhausted his own labor. Six million foreigners are engaged in Germany, but they are mostly of low efficiency.
Meanwhile, the growing strain of long hours, RAF raids and war conditions on the health and stamina of the industrious German workers is beginning to tell in declining productivity per man.
It is estimated that only 20 percent of Germany's present production is for civilian needs.

Politically, Hitler's last year has been barren.
Instead of winning over the suppressed peoples, he was forced to use harsher measures to keep them in control. Doubt about the outcome of the war is creeping into the leaders' speeches.
This wavering among the leadership and reports that Hitler has shaken up the high command because he had lost faith in some of his generals are helping to undermine and weaken the morale of the Germans.
Instead victory after victory has led merely to greater hardships and great trials.

ALLIES CLOSING IN ON AXIS IN TUNISIA

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE
I still insist this is a small world. Here's another reason why.
David Whiteside handed me a letter from Fred M. Dailey, formerly of the County Children's Home, who is helping hold down the lid in one of the hottest spots in the world. He is at Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands where the Marines have been adding new laurels to their long record of achievement by snuffing superior numbers of Japs.
Dailey said he had not heard from Sherman Bell recently.
A short time after Dave gave me the letter with reference to Bell, Harry Robinson walked into the office with a letter from Sherman Bell stating that he was on the Yorktown when it was sunk, but had been rescued by another ship.

Quite a lot of people with whom we have talked seem quite reasonable and satisfied with the rationing plans in store for all of us. They say, and rightly, that after all this is the only fair way to handle the situation if there is a shortage and rationing is necessary. Soon all of us coffee drinkers will be on our one pound every five weeks allowance, and what a relief that will be to many of our grocers who have been hounded by many inconsiderate persons some of whom seem to think that the only sacrifice to be made is by the other fellow.
We might as well make up our minds now that we are going to do without coffee sometimes, and without a lot of other things before this war is over. But let's stick our chins out, and show the people of Europe, who really know what this is all about, that we too have the stuff to absorb punishment and keep on fighting. Let's take it, and uncomplainingly.

There is an age-old saying that "we never miss the water 'til the well runs dry," and I guess practically the same thing is applicable to automobile tires, except it should be "we never miss the tires until the tires give way."
A day or two ago I noticed a Kentucky automobile headed southward through the city, with the tires gone from both right wheels, and the driver was moving along at about eight miles an hour.
His worn out tires were on the rear of the car—apparently too far gone to run another mile, and the driver was making the best of a bad situation, although apparently determined to drive the car home somewhere in Kentucky with just two of the wheels sticking with tires.
The significant thing about the Kentucky car is that it is just the forerunner of what we may see frequently until the rubber shortage is broken.
Already I have seen dozens of cars traveling the streets and highways, with one or more tires missing.
In every instance where a tire is missing, with no spare to replace it, the driver of the car wears a gloomy expression as if he had lost his last friend, for apparently the car is headed for the last roundup.

Gasoline Rationing Postponement Now Sought in Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A congressional drive to postpone the nationwide rationing of gasoline, now scheduled to start on December 1, was reported by its backers today to have gained strength in influential quarters.
Without disclosing the names of more than a score of congressmen he said had assured him of support, Representative Johnson (D-Okla.) said there was "a splendid chance for an early hearing on a resolution he introduced yesterday to set up a three-man board to study the entire petroleum situation."
Johnson's resolution automatically would forestall nationwide application of gasoline rationing for three months to give the board a chance to complete a survey. It was referred to the banking and currency committee, several members of which have been outspokenly opposed

'Squeezing Position' Is Held by Farmers

By FRANKLIN MULLIN
CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Wheat farmers, who have waited long for parity prices, today at last were in a position to exact some retribution from the law of supply and demand, for years their worst enemy.
By holding on to their grain, producers themselves were giving a novel twist to wartime price control.
It has been years since they have seen anything like parity prices, which government economists figure should give them purchasing power like that of the

SYNTHETIC RUBBER TO MEET ALL NEEDS

Tires Already Being Tested On Highways

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A B. F. Goodrich Co. chemist declared today that synthetic rubber would successfully challenge the national product and predicted that within two years after Pearl Harbor 90 percent of the nation's rubber goods would be synthetic.
"Synthetic rubber is certainly here to stay," Dr. Robert V. Yohe of the Goodrich Chemical Division told a regional conference of the farm chemurgic council. "The development of ever-rising quality and lower cost in synthetic rubber products will present a challenge to mother nature which she won't be able to meet."
Dr. Yohe said that tires of 99.84 percent synthetic content were being tested on highways now. Under some conditions, these wear better than natural rubber, he said, although "difficult problems" remain in truck and bus tires.

ROMMEL FLEES TO ESCAPE

Russians Repulse Germans At Stalingrad and Hold Lines in Caucasus
By E. C. DANIEL
LONDON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A German report that British and American motorized forces have reached the southern Tunisian border area suggested today that the Allies might be aiming two armored spearheads into Tunisia, one toward Bizerte and Tunis along the coast, and the other through desert and mountain trails directly toward Tripoli to trap Axis forces in North Africa.
There was no word from Allied sources that the battle yet was joined, but German broadcasts said Nazi planes bombed British and American mobile columns sweeping along the coastal road from Algeria to Bizerte and in the southern border area of Tunisia.
Other desert trails, it was noted, lead to southern Tunisia from the Lake Chad region where American and fighting French forces have been reported gathered in the north of French equatorial Africa. It is roughly 1,000 miles from the Lake Chad country to the Tunisian border, however.
Meanwhile bad weather over the Libyan desert curtailed aerial activity, and a United States communique from Cairo said American reconnaissance planes patrolled the desert without encountering the enemy. British reports also suggested that Field Marshal Rommel's withdrawal had outdistanced the British Eighth Army in pursuit across the hump of Cirenaica.
Military sources in London said that what was left of Rommel's force had been able to delay pursuit enough by rear guard action and mines to prevent General Montgomery from delivering the Coup de grace.
Reports that the Germans had landed 12-ton tanks by air in Tunisia suggested to London observers that the first of two newly or

Two Rumanian Priests In Detroit Are Held On Espionage Charges

DETROIT, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The federal grand jury today indicted two priests of the Rumanian orthodox Church and an editor on charges of espionage.
The priests are Father Glighe Moraru of Dearborn, Mich., identified in the indictment as leader in North America of the Free Rumanian movement; and Father Stephan Opreanu of Detroit. Opreanu and George Zampfir, Detroit editor of Rumanian publications, were named as agents of Moraru.
Louis M. Hopping, assistant district attorney, said Moraru twice visited the former King Carol of Rumania in Mexico and received $13,000 from him to further the movement.
One of the four counts in the indictment charges violation of the espionage act. The others alleged the defendants acted as agents of an enemy power, failed to register as foreign agents, and disseminated propaganda without labeling it as such or furnishing files to the government.

DRAFT DEFERMENT FOR FARM WORKERS IS BEING STUDIED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Selective Service headquarters said today the new "teen-age draft bill" provision for deferring farm workers was so badly stated that an official interpretation would be required.
Spokesmen said the provision, which some congressional proponents had said during debate would make little if any change in previous regulations, was being studied closely at headquarters preparatory to issuance of a definition for local boards.
Although agriculture already was listed among some 39 activities designated as "essential to the support of the war effort," it was the only one given special deferment status through legislation.
This factor apparently has given rise to some concern at national headquarters that varying or extreme interpretations of the provision among the 6,500 local boards, some of which deal almost exclusively with farm workers, might upset quotas and calls.

Much of Running Sea Battle Fought at Close Range in Darkness After U. S. Fleet Steams in on Surprise Attack To Stop Huge Invasion Armada—Americans Lose Eight

By JOHN H. WIGGINS
Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The United States Navy dominated the battle-quickened waters of the Solomon Islands today after crushing a mighty Japanese armada in an epic struggle which might well have broken the back of the enemy fleet.
In a savage three-day conflict that sent the foe's battered naval remnants into hiding, 23 Japanese ships were sunk, seven damaged and possibly 20,000 to 40,000 Japanese troops were lost in the swirl of sunken transports.
Secretary of Navy Knox said today that the United States clearly had won round two of the battle for the Solomons Islands, but that it "must not be forgotten" that there may be a round three.
He declined to claim more advantage than that strategically, but commenting on the overall result of the greatest naval engagement since the Battle of Jutland in the World War, said that it leaves American forces "in complete and undisputed possession of the island of Guadalcanal and the airfield there and has caused the enemy very severe losses both in ships and personnel."

Gen. MacArthur on Island To Direct Knockout Blow on Retreating Enemy Force

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Led by General MacArthur, jungle-toughened American and Australian troops forged within heavy cannon shot of Buna today, ready to fight the Japanese for that key Papuan base or take it by default.
The commander-in-chief of the Southwest Pacific went into the field himself to direct the campaign and with him were General Sir Thomas Blamey, his commander of Allied land forces, and Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney, his commander of Allied air forces.
The Japanese faced either a last-ditch stand or an attempt to flee by sea. Buna is their only coastal foothold in Papua but up the New Guinea coast they have strongholds at Lae and Salamaua, some 150 miles away.
The partial reports listed the sinking of a Japanese battleship, three heavy cruisers, two light cruisers, five destroyers, eight crowded transports and four cargo ships. The American losses were given as two light cruisers and six destroyers.
Thus, in 11 months of war, Associated Press records show that 365 Japanese ships have been sent to the bottom of the Pacific as against 84 American vessels, including those at Pearl Harbor.
Much of the running sea fight was fought at close range and in darkness. So furious was the action that at one time two of three large Japanese units that converged for an attack on prized

SCOUT MEETING IS TO BE HELD HERE THURSDAY

Purpose is To Plan Program For Future—May Be Last For Many Months

Plans for a dinner meeting of supporters of the Boy Scout movement in the high school here next Thursday evening, today were beginning to take definite form although the letters of notification have only just gone out through the mail from A. B. Murray, the city school superintendent and district chairman of the Scout organization.

The purpose of the meeting, which is scheduled for 6:45 P. M., is "to spend an evening together and plan our objectives for furthering the Boy Scout program in the district."

The letter from the chairman addressed to "Friends of Scouting," summed up the prospects of the meeting in one paragraph:

"We will have a splendid evening of fellowship and will have as the principal speaker, Mr. Leon Roy, council chairman of organization and extension. There will also be an opportunity given to meet our new scout executive, Lester R. Bucher, who came to us recently from the Blue Grass Council at Lexington, Ky."

With gasoline rationing in prospect for the immediate future, countywide meetings of this kind are expected to become increasingly difficult. There was even the possibility that this might be the last one for many weeks. In view of the wartime handicaps, Scout officials are placing extra emphasis on the importance of attending the Thursday evening meeting.

The home economics department of the high school is to prepare and serve the 75-cent dinner. However, the chairman said advance reservations should be made. Tickets are available from eight Scout leaders, Fred Mark, Jr., George Hall, Charles Reinke, Paul Pennington, Clark W. Robinson, G. H. Biddle, E. L. Hoke and Kenneth Craig.

The meeting takes in the entire county and the chairman wrote: "Help make this the biggest and best meeting ever. Attendance will indicate interest and faith in the work the Boy Scouts are accomplishing."

Montgomery Ward's Reply To The NATIONAL WAR LABOR BOARD

November 13, 1942.

National War Labor Board,
Department of Labor Building,
Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen:

We have the National War Labor Board's order of November 5.

In this order the board demands that Montgomery Ward and Company enter into a contract establishing a form of closed shop, called "Maintenance of Membership," together with a check-off of union dues from wages. Under this form of closed shop, the employees who are members of the union would not be free to resign from the union without being discharged, and Wards would not be free to retain a competent worker who had resigned from the union. This making of union membership a condition of employment is the essence of the closed shop, whatever form it may take. "Maintenance of Membership" is the starting phase which inevitably leads to the full closed shop.

The president of the United States is quoted as having said, on November 14, 1941: "The Government of the United States will not order, nor will Congress pass legislation ordering the so-called closed shop." Wards is in agreement with this statement and believes that the board's order is not in accordance with the president's principles.

Wards believes that the board's demand not only violates the fundamental principles of liberty—but are economically unsound and are illegal under the terms of the National Labor Relations Act.

If the board's order against Wards is enforced, the pattern will be established by which all unions in all industries can secure a form of closed shop and check-off merely by appealing to the War Labor Board.

The board further ordered a form of compulsory arbitration for Wards. Wards is not opposed to voluntary arbitration. However, Wards' management should not, as demanded by the board, abandon responsibilities which have been vested in it by the owners of the corporation, and so surrender to outside arbitrators the final decision on all matters which the union may wish to treat as grievances.

The board further ordered that Wards guarantee its wages and other working conditions for a one year period. Wards believes that a fixed duration of one year is unsound in these uncertain times.

Wards operates in a highly competitive field composed of one million seven hundred fifty thousand retail establishments. It is unfair to impose burdens upon Wards and not upon those with whom it is in competition.

Wards efforts to preserve the essential freedoms between itself and its employees have not been prompted by any feeling of anti-unionism. The report of the mediation panel expressly recognizes this fact. Wards' policy has been to obey the law. Wards has twenty-nine union contracts with both A. F. of L. and C. I. O. unions.

Wards has already given its employees the increases in wages previously recommended by the board. Wards did this even though its wages were already as high or higher than those prevailing in the industry and has been increased an average of over 21% since January, 1941. Wards is willing to include these increases in a contract with the union. There is no issue over wages.

The War Labor Board was created by the president to replace the old Defense Mediation Board. The Mediation Board was destroyed by the resignation of the union members following the board's vote of nine to two against a closed shop in the captive coal mine case. The War Labor Board, in name only, is composed of representatives of the unions, of industry, and of the public. The union representatives are men chosen for leadership by the unions and have actually protected the interests of the unions. On the other hand, neither industry nor the public have had any voice in the selection of those who presumably represent them. By their decisions, the supposed representatives of industry and of the public have, because of experience, prejudice or lack of understanding, abandoned the interests of those whom they were appointed to represent.

Under the Constitution, Congress is the sole law-making authority. If closed shops and compulsory arbitration are to become requirements for union employers, it is Congress and not the War Labor Board which should make them so. Congress has not empowered the board to order any employer to do any of the things it demands of Wards.

Accordingly, Wards rejects the orders of the board. If Congress imposes closed shops, compulsory arbitration or contracts for a year's duration on employers, or if the president of the United States, as commander-in-chief in time of war, directs that Wards accept the board's rulings, which we earnestly believe are illegal and uneconomic, we will respectfully obey.

Yours Very Truly,
(Signed)
SEWELL AVERY
President

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK Nov. 17—(AP)—Notes on a heavy week end in the sports-writing business:

Friday is fight night at the Garden, and sometimes you wonder why you keep going there week after week . . . Of course you see some good scraps—and some bad ones, but it's one sure place to pick up the odd bit of news or gossip to use in a column . . . Last Friday there was an "undercurrent of excitement as the ringworms discussed Sammy Angott's sudden abdication of the lightweight title and the probable effect upon the Beau Jack-Allie Stolz affair.

Saturday it was Baker Field for the Yale-Princeton game, with a bitter wind whistling through the almost unprotected press box . . . You just sat there and shook. Down on the field the wind did some strange tricks with the ball and so did the players, but mostly it was pretty good football . . . As an old grad, the result wasn't pleasing, but still Yale hadn't won for four years.

Sunday's a hockey night and it seemed queer to be expecting a poor game between the Rangers and Bruins . . . Always in the past those meetings had been the season's highspots . . . But rookies will perform like rookies and they put a lot of action into it even if they did lack skill.

Monday it was the I. C. 4-A cross country meet . . . Frank Dixon, a well-built, tan-skinned Negro lad from New York U. made a show of the field.

It was a busy week end, all right, but there's nothing doing for a few days now and you wonder what you'll write about until the next one comes along.

Soldiers Taken On Fishing Trips

SEATTLE—(AP)—Stories about the big one that got away have become as familiar in the barracks and tents this fall as they are out at the rod and gun club. When the Seattle Poggie Club committee closed its books on the season, it reported that 1,500 service men had been taken on officially sponsored trips during the salmon runs and hundreds of others got a fling at the sport on private outings as sportsmen's guests. Many of the men who never before had felt the thrill of landing a fighting fish were able to go back to their quarters with stories about the big one that didn't get away.

FOUR VETERANS TO BE NUCLEUS OF LION TEAM

Eleven on Squad Came in From Football—Several Had Reserve Experience

The Blue Lions closing their successful football season last week with an outstanding victory over the Circleville Tigers, have returned to the basketball floor to try to turn out another league winning team.

Thirty-three hopeful basketballers turned out for the first practice of the season. This time the coaching staff is different—with head coach, George Miraben, and assistant coach, Jerry Kissell, directing the Reserves.

Only four of the 33 boys are returning lettermen although some of the others have seen service as members of the reserve squad.

Monday night's practice was designed only as the first "get acquainted" practice. Some of the boys have been practicing after school in the gymnasium on their own time in order to get in shape for the season and to get in the mood for playing basketball.

Eleven of the boys who turned out for practice Monday evening also have played football under the guidance of Coaches Miraben and Kissell.

To start out the first practice, Coach Miraben gave the boys a stiff but routine workout. The outstanding features of the drill were ball handling, shooting baskets and Miraben's own original idea of "conditioning." His "conditioner" kept the boys on the run all of the time, alternating with fresh boys at different intervals.

Coach Miraben set up strict training rules which are essentially the same as those used for the training of the football team. However, a few more have been added.

Coach Miraben said "the outlook for the team is good. They have the right coordination of muscles and have a knowledge of the fundamentals of basketball, but they need a little more speed. If these boys have the same spirit that the Lions had in football, we will have a good team. The support of the student body and townfolk also will help give us a better team."

Most of the practices this year will be held in the evening, instead of after school. The reason for the change, Miraben said was "I think I can get more work out of the boys after supper than I can after school. If this does not prove successful we will have to change our practice program."

The following boys were out for the first practice Monday evening: D. Ellies, B. Allen, C. Pummell, P. Mann, A. Wackman, J. Tillet, J. Anderson, H. Morris, E. Heath, B. Secrets, D. Kelly, V. Hunt, B. Clean Sweep In Bowling By Pioneers

The Pure Pointers down near the bottom of the standing, took the first game from the top Warnerites in an Industrial League match when they met on the South Main Street alleys Monday night but they could not keep up the pace and dropped the last two when the Warnerites hit their stride and started splattering the ducks. Ray Warner was the "hot" man of the match with games of 130, 217 and 224 for a total of 571. Although Ted Warner could not reach the 200-mark, he was so consistent that his total score was only 50 pins off the top at the end.

Paced by Thomas, who turned in a sensational 602 total with games of 199, 243 and 168, the Pioneers made a clean sweep of their match with the Pennington Bakers, who had to fill in the team effort with a blind score of 133. Although the Bakers lost all three games, their scores all topped 800, which is good enough to win a lot of games. McLean was second high for the evening with scores of 227, 164 and 181 for a total of 572.

The Lions will open their season here in the WHS gymnasium on Tuesday night, December 15, when they meet the Fairfield five. This team defeated the Lions last year so the Lions are out to get revenge.

Although the game is about a month away, practice has been started and it is hoped to have a good team by that time.

Twelve games have been scheduled for this season and seven of them are to be played on the WHS court.

JAP FLEET IS CRUSHED IN BATTLE OF SOLOMONS; 23 WARSHIPS ARE SUNK

Guadalcanal Island "seemed confused," the Navy said, and "were fired at each other."

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, declared at Pearl Harbor last night he believed the Japanese "brought down everything they had."

"As a result," he added, "all the enemy forces were either destroyed or driven back and a major victory was obtained by our gallant forces."

While battleships took part in the gigantic naval engagement, the Japanese brought no airplane carriers to bear. Nimitz expressed belief the foe either had no carriers left or "didn't choose to risk them." No mention was made as to whether American carriers participated.

The Navy's description of the spectacular combat, fought under the immediate direction of Vice Admiral William F. Halsey, told of the discovery early this month of heavy Japanese shipping concentrations in the New Britain-northwestern Solomons area, this was the beginning of an attempted major assault to recapture Henderson Airfield and other American positions in the Guadalcanal Tulagi region.

The Rising Sun's offensive was underway November 10 with three naval forces streaming to the attack. One prong approached the southeastern Solomons from the north. The other detachments, counting many transports, closed in from Rabaul and Buin, where they already had felt the lash of bombs from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's planes.

The foe's spearhead—two battleships of the Kongo class, two heavy cruisers, four light cruisers and about 10 destroyers—boiled into the Guadalcanal battle zone after midnight of November 13.

An intended bombardment of the American-held airfield preparatory to a large scale landing of troops was thwarted suddenly by American warships arriving at the right moment. It was in this close-range battle that the Japanese vessels slammed away at each other, unwittingly committing a sort of naval hara-kari.

The engagement also brought the death of Rear Admiral Daniel J. Callaghan, former naval aide to President Roosevelt. His flagship, which blew up an enemy cruiser, scored 18 hits on a battleship and sank a destroyer, finally took several 14-inch shells. The bridge was wrecked and Callaghan, "Uncle Dan" to many a Navy man, was killed.

Daylight brought retirement of what remained of the Nipponese fleet. United States aircraft picked off crippled enemy vessels left behind as the foe retreated northward.

Stubbornly, the Japanese tried again to land heavy reinforcements for their forces on Guadalcanal. That afternoon 12 transports loaded with troops and heavily guarded by warships were spotted moving on to the embattled island from the Bougainville area.

Shortly after midnight on November 14, the Nipponese warships fired round after round at the American positions on the island. Then their transports closed in for a landing.

American planes struck quickly and viciously. Torpedoes and bombs smashed into the heavily-loaded transports and eight went to the bottom. The four others eluded the barrage and maneuvered toward Guadalcanal.

Four cargo transports, presumably these same vessels that had escaped the slaughter, were discovered the following day beached at Tassafaranga about seven and a half miles west of Guadalcanal. Air, artillery and naval gun fire reduced them to wreckage.

Meanwhile, other Japanese warships collided again with American forces during the night of November 14-15 near Guadalcanal. The Navy was awaiting full reports on this encounter.

The sea battle ended that morning. A United States air patrol sighted the remainder of the Japanese fleet limping northward. It did not reappear.

Regardless of what enemy officers thought, spokesmen from the land of the Rising Sun claimed in short wave radio broadcasts that the American fleet had been annihilated again.

The Federal Communications Commission reported in New York yesterday that Tokyo propagandists contended the battle of the Solomons "is proving fatal to the American Navy"; that "the Japanese have the Americans where they want them and mean to keep them there until no American warship is left in active service."

The figures, as reported by the United States Navy, however, show that the Solomons conflict has resulted in destruction of 35 Japanese ships with five others probably sunk and 71 damaged. The American losses were given as 24 vessels sunk and at least five damaged.

Of these losses, 119 were Japanese warships and 50 were American.

Massillon-Canton Game Saturday in Football Spotlight

COLUMBUS, Nov. 17—A conflict in dates with the Michigan-Ohio State football game Saturday is the only thing that keeps a grudge battle between Massillon and Canton McKinley from taking the play from the collegiate gridirers.

Twenty two thousand fans will pack Massillon stadium to see Massillon try to chalk up its 53rd game without a loss. That will surpass any other Ohio football crowd of the year except the throngs which attended Ohio State games or saw Notre Dame and Navy play at Cleveland.

A vastly improved Canton eleven, which trounced unbeaten Lakewood last week, is given its best chance of downing the powerful Tigers since 1938. McKinley hasn't beaten Massillon since 1934 although Canton holds a 22 to 21 edge in games won during their 47 years of rivalry. Other games ended in ties.

Massillon edged Erie East 13 to 6, although several injured players were on the sidelines resting for the McKinley tilt. Despite this rest, it still was considered doubtful whether Bob Graber, the Tigers' triple threat star, would be able to start Saturday. He has a double ankle sprain.

Lakewood was one of three unbeaten teams, two with long winning streaks, toppled into the defeated ranks last week. Lakewood, unbeaten previously in 21 games, fell before McKinley, 28 to 6.

That unlucky "13" finally proved disastrous for Powhatan last Friday the 13th. With a record of being undefeated in 25 games, Powhatan lost to Yorkville 13 to 6. The week before Powhatan eased through with a 13-all tie with St. Clairsville.

Columbus North was the third unbeaten team to hit the dust, getting upset by Columbus East 13 to 12.

Undefeated teams and total victories included: Massillon 52, Xenia Soldiers and Sailors Orphans' Home 28, Tiltonville 24, Toledo Libbey 17, Fredericktown 15, Miamisburg 9, Defiance 9, Dover 8, Boardman 8, Arlington 8 Hudson 8, Sandusky 8, ton 8, Dayton Oakwood 8, Ashtabula 8, Middleport 8, Versailles 8 and Clearview 7.

"WOULDN'T ADOLF LIKE TO HAVE THIS!"

Like to have it? Why, he'd give Goering, Goebbels, Himmler and a dozen Panzer Divisions for it right now—and throw in Benito for good measure.

Yes, Adolf knows that America's Railroads represent the greatest transportation system in the world. Covering our Nation with a network of strategic rails . . . with 410,000 miles of track . . . 2,000,000 units of equipment . . . operated by a loyal army of 1,400,000 skilled workers . . . the American Railroads are proving themselves, as never before, the lifelines of America.

Over these strategic rails are executed the orders of our Military and Naval leaders . . . troops to tanks to guns to planes to food to . . . Vital orders . . . executed smoothly, efficiently, on time.

As they shatter all wartime transportation records, the Railroads are prepared to continue keeping our steel lifelines open and flowing as military plans call for still greater movements of men and materials.

Peacetime foresight readied the railroads for their vital wartime role . . . a role that's indispensable in the strategic plans of the United Nations.

RUBBER TIRES AND RUSSIA
The United States government is to buy the Ford tire manufacturing plant in Detroit, to be dismantled and shipped to Russia, there to be set up by American experts. It will be capable of turning out 1,000,000 tires a year.

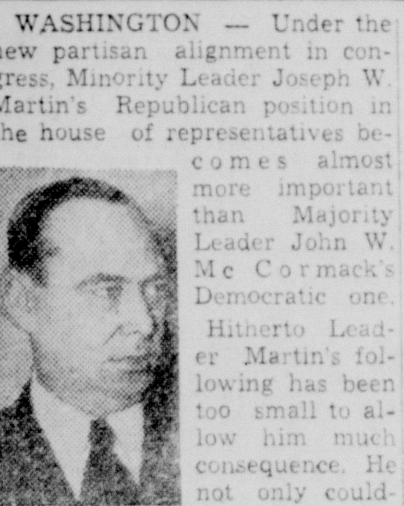

Where will the Russians secure their raw materials? They will come from synthetic rubber made by a process which Russian scientists have developed, the formula of which was offered the United States last February, but without arousing any interest here. No one cared to investigate.

The Russians are turning out large quantities of synthetic rubber made by the butadiene process by the use of alcohol, and they have all the alcohol they need. In fact, Russia is in a much better position, so far as rubber is concerned, than is the United States. Her officials stored up large quantities of raw rubber and her scientists long ago began the production of artificial rubber on a massive scale. The Soviet government was convinced when Hitler broke loose that sooner or later it would become involved. The pact between Germany and Russia, signed after the present war began in Europe, was for Stalin a mere stop-gap instrument. It gave him more time for preparations.

The Ford plans when set up somewhere in the interior of Russia, with a capacity of a million tires a year, will find at hand all the synthetic raw materials required. The cost of the plant will be $5,000,000. It will be sent to Russia under the terms of the lend-lease act. Whether it will ever be paid for remains to be seen.

AN APPALLING SITUATION
Groups or individuals who seek even transitory gain during the present conflict, are a decided threat to the ultimate outcome and to the peace.
Representatives of organized labor are frankly striving to bulwark their groups against post-war conditions, at the expense of present war production. Regardless of consequences, they demand and have been getting ever-increasing wages on the theory that they have a "right" to keep fully abreast of the rising cost of living. They are accumulating, in the name of the unions, gigantic tax-exempt reserves. They are accountable to no one for the disposition of these funds. The money can be used for the direct benefit of the rank-and-file members—or it can be used in the evil ramifications of

Washington at a Glance By Charles P. Stewart

Joseph Martin

WASHINGTON — Under the new partisan alignment in congress, Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin's Republican position in the house of representatives becomes almost more important than Majority Leader John W. McCormack's Democratic one. Hitherto Leader Martin's following has been too small to allow him much consequence. He not only couldn't criticize administration policies adversely with any prospect of getting so feeble a chirp noticed, but he couldn't gain any credit by endorsing 'em. His dissent and his acquiescence were equally unimportant.
Now it'll be different. With the size of his incoming G.O.P. minority, Joe possibly will be able, by an occasional alliance with a few third-partisans, to outvote the administrationists on an issue or two.
Leader McCormack will still get his orders from overhead. He won't be an independent legislative factor, personally, despite his skippy majority.

While it's true that the last election result wasn't a Republican victory, since it didn't give the G.O.P. control of either congressional chamber (it couldn't in the senate, not enough seats being at stake, and it didn't in the lower house either), Republican gains were sufficient to verge on a triumph.
This stunt was pulled off under Joe Martin's auspices, as his party's campaign chairman.
Now he's quitting this chairmanship, to concentrate on his duties as leader of the Republicans' formidable minority in the house of representatives, a job which undoubtedly will, indeed, keep him amply busy.
Besides being a first-class statesman, Congressman Martin's a technical politician of the highest order. Unquestionably he was quick to sense the opportunity that presents itself. Getting into a strong representative minority leadership, he'll be due for the first opening. That'll lead automatically into the speakership and the speakership is next to the presidency.
Joe makes an important point. His thesis is that our war activities have been haphazard among too many different agencies. That's the basis of his argument for a joint committee of representatives and senators in the interests of a closer partnership between congress and the White House. President Roosevelt himself speaks of it as a constructive suggestion, despite the Republican source that it comes from.
For one reason or another the congressional house leadership appears to be more significant than the senate leadership. Perhaps it's because the house primarily handles financial questions, or maybe it's considered closer to the people. Anyway, Alben W. Barkley and Charles L. McNary don't figure as conspicuously, as Democratic and Republican senate leaders, respectively, as Representatives McCormack and Martin in the subordinate chamber.

For example, I never heard either Barkley or McNary mentioned as presidentially nominatorial material. Nor Representative McCormack, for that matter.
White House Timber
I'm beginning to hear Representative Martin so referred to, however.
He's even developing as something of a competitor of Wendell Willkie, and, if his run of luck continues, he may prove to be a pretty sizable one two years hence.
Joe, as a matter of fact, should be more of a 1944 G.O.P. suitability than Wendell. The latter was a Democrat originally. As I've previously remarked, those two rival party labels no longer mean much, as a practical proposition. Nevertheless, a lot of voters still swear by 'em. And, yet more significantly, professional politicians, who do the actual nominating in national conventions, tend to prefer candidates whom they consider really experienced at the game, like Joe Martin, to wild-eyed amateurs, such as Wendell.
Joe Martin, in short, has had some of the breaks of late, and he shows all indications of making the most of 'em.
He's smart and he's large caliber.

bureaucratic politics. Many labor organizers deliberately intend to put labor, and more specifically themselves, in the saddle after the war. To put it bluntly, if they have their way, no man returning from the Army will be able to get a job until he has joined and paid heavy tribute to a union boss.

In the meantime, the rest of America stands by, faced with paralyzing taxes, a steadily falling standard of living, and lengthening casualty lists from the front. Men with dependents are being or soon will be drafted into the Army by the millions. What of them? There is no thought of the standard of living for dependents they leave behind. In most cases, the government allows but little more than enough for food, let alone for clothing and shelter. There is nothing left but charity for the families of men who are fighting and dying to save our basic liberties—yes, even the right of the highest paid laborer in the world here at home, to strike. Modern Adjuncts Ease Burden for Tuberculosis Patients

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THE MODERN treatment of tuberculosis has advanced along many lines that do not have strictly to do with the actual medical treatment. These are concessions Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

to the fact that the tuberculous patient is a human being, has a mind and needs something to occupy it during the process of cure. They are psychological and humanitarian in scope.

Rest Essential
Rest is still the essential feature of tuberculosis treatment, whether there is also some surgical manipulation such as pneumothorax done or not. And rest in tuberculosis treatment really means rest. It means rest in bed for at least the first six months every day, both day and night, and perhaps practical rest with limited activity for a year or more after that.

Now you can read just so much, even if you like to read. And you can knit or play solitaire just so long before your mind begins to get fuzzy. So the rest becomes quite a burden.

In fact, in the old days the prospective patient dreaded the rest more than he did any other feature of the treatment. And when he got started to resting, he didn't relish it any better than he did in the anticipation.

Make Rest Profit
But every hospital for the care of the tuberculous invalid now has special workers whose sole duty it is to make the enforced rest profitable and free from boredom. I know of a watchmaker and repairer who was encouraged to keep on with his vocation, at least part time, even while he was in bed.
Occupational therapy of a light kind is instituted as soon as practicable and many people learn a trade in a tuberculosis sanatorium. Of course, the radio has been a god-send to such patients. It often requires considerable ingenuity to work out something the patient will be able to do and which interests him, but that is the job of the occupational therapist and psychologist.

Road to Romance LOIS EBY and JOHN C. FLEMING

CHAPTER FORTY
TOINETTE closed the door after Mary and whirled back to face her publicity agent furiously.
"Why do you come into my cottage without knocking?"
"I use ethyl," said Link.
"What?"
"Skip it, Frenchy. We'll say my hands were full. I had a cigaret in one and the other was in my pocket."
He laughed comfortably at her dramatic choke of anger, ground out his cigaret in her cloisonne ash-tray, and helped himself to another. Link was an angular man, sparse of hair. He'd been around everywhere, was fond of saying he'd had all the corners knocked off. His features were sharp, like his mind. He regarded the temperamental star now with undisguised amusement.
"Never use the name of Jones when you're palming an alias off on me, honey." He lit a cigaret, blew out the match and tossed it doorward. "It's too obvious—even if I hadn't met her before. And listen, don't bother figuring out a big scene to play for the F. B. I. at Nordex. Because you aren't going to play it."
Toinette's fury mounted. "I weel play it if I want to!" She went close to the irritating man, her small hands clenching. "I weel help Bruce. I love heem. Do you hear me? I love heem! And I will help heem and you can't stop me!"
"No, I can't stop you," shrugged Link honestly. "But I can tell you, it'll be the last big scene you'll ever play—as an actress." He grinned at her as he saw fear and bewilderment rising to combat the fury in her.
"What do you mean by that?" she scoffed.
Link draped himself over the arm of a velvet chair. "All the world knows you're French, kid," he rambled gently. "A few people know your home is in the occupied area. Maybe the F. B. I. knows. Anyway, they lost no time in keeping a sharp eye on Bruce Martin when he went over to Nordex just after he had been engaged to you."
"But that's ridiculous!"
"Not too ridiculous," he reminded her smoothly, "if they've heard rumors that your Uncle Albert left Nordex now lives in Berlin. They get around, those rumors, and the F. B. I. has sharp ears."
Fear held her dark eyes on his face. "I did not know heem!" she cried. "I saw heem the once and I hated heem! I can tell them that, I can tell them!"
"Yeah, you can tell 'em," Link drawled. "You can talk yourself right into a concentration camp for the duration if you want to. It's ain't no secret."
"Answer: This sounds like Meniere's disease which is due to internal ear disturbance. I would seek advice from an ear specialist."

Good time to get your name in the pot
When Present Stocks of New Cars Are Sold, THERE WON'T BE ANY MORE! If You're Going to Need a New Car for Essential Work—BETTER APPLY FOR ONE NOW.

RIGHT now, Buick dealers can offer you selection from complete stocks of unused 1942 Buicks built before automobile production halted.
But every week that goes by increases the number of cars now in use that simply must be replaced in the very near future.
These cars can be replaced only from existing stocks. If you regularly drive a car in really essential service, don't take a chance on finding present stocks exhausted by trying to get the very last mile out of it.
Turn it in, for use by some other essential user who doesn't drive as much as you do.
New-car buying regulations are aimed at conserving both new cars and cars now in use. They also seek to put new cars in the hands of those who need them most.
Thus if you can show real need—now, while cars are available—you can get a permit to buy now, while cars can be bought.
Permits to buy won't do any good when you really NEED a new car—
Better Buy Buick

there are no cars to be had!
Your Buick dealer will be glad to give you all information on new-car buying regulations and procedure. At the moment, he can make immediate delivery to qualified buyers on almost any 1942 Buick model.
But because Buick factories have been all-out on war production for many months, your dealer won't be able to help you when cars now available are sold.
Better see him NOW about applying for that car you're going to need.

IF YOU ARE INCLUDED IN THIS LIST YOU'RE ELIGIBLE
There are seven major classifications for persons eligible to buy new cars under basic rationing rules. These include: (1) persons engaged in the production of war materials or in the prosecution of the war, man, veterinarians; (2) physicians, nurses, clergy, service, such as fire departments, public health, highway maintenance, etc.; (3) owners of taxicabs and paper wholesalers; and (4) farmers; (5) news-certain fields.
Your Buick dealer will be very glad to help you determine whether you come under the rules of eligibility. He will also be glad to help you fill out the proper applications.
Don't guess about your eligibility—see your Buick dealer now and make sure.

League of Women Voters Entertained on Monday At Creamer-Julian Residence

Mrs. Fred B. Creamer and Mrs. Laura Julian were most gracious hostesses on Monday afternoon, to the Fayette County League of Women Voters, in their unusually charming home on Columbus Avenue.

The program was devoted mainly to Government and Social Welfare as it relates to Washington Court House and Fayette County.

Mrs. Jean Nisley, the League president, presided at the meeting, introduced the speakers and was the very capable moderator in the many important questions presented for discussion.

Mrs. W. S. Paxson was the first speaker and she immediately won the sympathetic cooperation of the women present as she unraveled the tragic picture of conditions caused by strikes in

Past Chiefs Hold Meet with Mrs. Perrill

Mrs. Wallace Perrill very graciously opened her lovely home on Briar Avenue to the Past Chiefs of White Hawthorne Temple, Monday afternoon, for a most pleasurable session which included three guests with the members.

At a brief business meeting it was decided to combine the December and January meetings to be held at the Knights of Pythias Hall on January 18, with luncheon at 12:30 and initiation. The program committee, Mrs. J. C. Cannon, and Mrs. L. H. Korn, provided interesting contests during the social hour.

Small tables seated the ladies for the serving of a delicious salad course, suggestive of Thanksgiving. Guests included in the afternoon's hospitalities were Mrs. Arthur French, Mrs. Robert Cannon and Mrs. A. E. Kemp.

Mrs. A. F. Hopkins Hostess to World Service Guild

With almost a perfect attendance of its members, the World Service Guild of the First Presbyterian Church was entertained by Mrs. Austin F. Hopkins at her handsome home on Washington Avenue, Monday evening.

The large adjoining rooms were a perfect setting for the lovely affair, which has become an annual party of the social calendar. The evening's entertainment and pleasures were equal to any preceding events, and rivaled any other in hospitality.

A beautiful bouquet of fall flowers centered the table in the dining room, around which the members and guests, Mrs. Harry Sprenger, Mrs. James Owen, Miss Kathryn Biehn and Miss Mazie Kessler, gathered for the delicious two course dinner. Following the exceptionally delightful dinner hour, the guests adjourned to the commodious living room for a business meeting and program.

The president, Mrs. C. L. Musser, presided and asked for various reports of committees. It was decided to send a Christmas box to a soldier, who had no relatives to remember him at the Yuletide season. During the roll call the members presented read thoughts on Thanksgiving, and a new member, Mrs. Paul Van Voorhis, was welcomed into the group.

The devotionals were presented by Mrs. Sprenger, and an Ann, Ph. D., by Miss Betty Cook. A piano solo "Clair de Lune" by Debussy, was beautifully presented by Miss Kathryn Biehn.

The "History of Our Flag" was the title of Mrs. Owens' paper, who used flags of different periods in illustrating her talk. This was followed by the group singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

The Pioneers of the First Presbyterian Church were assembled in the church parlors, Monday afternoon, for the regular meeting. Twenty-one young persons were in attendance. Marilyn Bishop, the president, conducted the business meeting and had the devotional period.

Pretty Diane Elliott was the hostess for the afternoon and served unusually delicious refreshments, of immense popcorn balls and candy, most delightful to the youthful appetites.

to learn the sources of these reports that have deluged OPA offices with inquiries, the regional Office of War Information announced.

Flatly denying that there would be any further delay in starting nationwide rationing, the OPA has asked the FBI investigation after receiving scores of queries from persons who said they understood gasoline rationing was to be abandoned, the OWI reported.

Registration for ration books opens tomorrow and the driving restrictions become effective December 1.

Warren C. Platt, editor of the National Petroleum News, declared today an FBI investigation into origin of reports of a second postponement in nationwide gasoline rationing is "a Gestapo-like operation" and a "palpable effort to subvert the people's right to petition their government."

ALLIES ARE CLOSING IN ON AXIS IN TUNISIA AS CRUCIAL BATTLE LOOMS

ganized Nazi panzer airborne divisions were being thrown into the Tunisian test. One of these divisions numbers some 7,500 fighting troops, 2,500 service troops, and more than 200 tanks.

In the air and, to a lesser extent, at sea, the battle already was joined as Malta-based planes of the RAF continued to batter at the Axis-held airport near Tunis, but a spokesman at Allied headquarters in North Africa said last night reports of fighting between Allied and Axis troops at Bizerte were premature.

Both the radio at Morocco and Axis stations had reported contact between the opposing forces, readying for a clash which will determine the success of the Allied operation in North Africa and probably settle the future of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's bedraggled Afrika Corps.

The London Daily Express also said the British and American troops in Tunisia were "reported to be fighting a fierce battle with the Germans near Tunis," but there was no confirmation for the report.

Certain it was that the clash could not be long delayed. French forces in Tunisia already were fighting the Germans and Italians. The American consul at Tunis said that French troops near Tunis had thrown back German patrols.

While the activities at sea were clouded in secrecy, the British Navy unquestionably was contesting any Axis effort to reinforce the Nazi garrisons in Tunisia by sea and a communiqué said "the Royal Navy maintains control of the western Mediterranean and its approaches."

The American consul at Tunis on arriving in Algeria said he believed the Germans and Italians were trying to keep the ports of Tunis and Bizerte open to support Marshal Rommel's retreating forces, last reported in the neighborhood of El Agheila, Libya, some 400 miles from his main base at Tripoli.

Other developments in the Global War:

Russian Front—Soviet headquarters reported that the Red armies were holding solidly along the wintry front, even taking the initiative at some points, and declared that 1,500 more Germans were killed as the historic siege of Stalingrad entered its historic week.

Another 1,500 Germans were left dead on the northern battlefield below Leningrad, in the Volkhov sector, where the Russians were reported advancing after a long period of quiet.

Libyan Campaign—Italian headquarters reported fierce fighting across the western desert hump between Derna and Bengasi as Axis forces continued to retreat toward Italian Tripolitania.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(P)—

Grain prices eased in quiet trading today, oats showing the most pronounced weakness and rye displaying resistance to the general downward tendency. Wheat and corn were off fractionally.

Major market influence, traders said, was a statement made last night by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard that 300,000,000 bushels of Canadian feed grains will be made available to the United States as soon as practicable.

Oats, which are encountering competition in New England from Canadian grains, seemed to be most affected by this statement, dropping about a cent. Some selling by northwestern interests was reported in the oats pit.

Wheat closed 1/4-5/8c lower, December 1.24%, May 1.27%-1.28%; corn was off 3/4-1c, 1.27%-1.28%; soybeans were unchanged.

'SQUEEZING POSITION' IS HELD BY FARMERS

NOW HOLDING WHEAT

However, market prices are only about 82 percent of parity, or around $1.26 in Chicago for No. 2 hard.

When the current wheat season began July 1 there were about 1,617,000,000 bushels in sight—an all-time record. Since, traders estimated close to 300,000,000 bushels have been consumed. The government owns about 300,000,000 bushels of old grain and more than 400,000,000 of the 1942 crop have been stored for loans, leaving approximately 600,000,000 still "free," enough to meet requirements until after the 1943 crop becomes available.

But producers are not selling this 600,000,000 bushels freely. Many farmers are sitting tight. Some of it will be stored for loans.

Meanwhile, the government, having established a ceiling on flour when the Chicago wheat price was around $1.30, or 2 cents below the loan rate, is trying to find enough grain at a price that will enable mills to manufacture and sell flour at a ceiling.

Thus, farmers are in a "squeezing position," and as a result, government officials are preparing a new program to induce producers to let go of some wheat so as to maintain the flour ceiling.

Gasoline Ration Registration Starts Wednesday

POSTPONEMENT MOVEMENT TO HAVE NO EFFECT

Schools All Set for Task of Issuing Basic Cards for Next Three Days

Registration for gasoline rationing will be held here, starting Wednesday, and continuing through Friday, on schedule. This was the flat statement of W. L. O'Brien, chairman of the county's Rationing Board, as he pointed out that a movement started in congress for postponement of rationing would have no effect on the registration which is not scheduled to start until December 1 anyway.

Both city and county school systems today were ready to start the job of registering motor vehicle owners and issuing the basic A cards during the coming three days, the two superintendents, A. B. Murray of the city schools and W. J. Hilly, of the county schools said.

The teachers, who are to act as the registrars, have received the final instructions and all of the necessary supplies have been on hand for more than a week, it was said. Already, hundreds of car owners have filled out their applications with tire numbers and other required data. The blanks have been available at service stations and the Auto Club for some time.

The two school superintendents said they hoped that applicants whose last names started with letters from A to K would come to the schools on Wednesday and that those whose last initials were from L to Z would come Thursday. Friday, they explained, would be left for "mopping up"—registering those who, for some good reason did not get in on the two previous days.

They emphasized that applicants would have to have the serial numbers of all of their tires and the certificates issued when they get their license tags. O'Brien restated the requirements for truck and fleet owners for clarification: "All holders of certificates of war necessity must get applications for fleet or trucks along with certificates of registration. These applications for gasoline mileage are available at the Rationing Board or the Auto Club."

The board chairman repeated that the registration would be held at the elementary schools in both city and county and that it would follow the same general procedure as the domestic sugar rationing registration. The registration for supplemental rations of gasoline—that is rations larger than the four gallons called for by the basic A cards—is to start on November 21 and continue through the month. It is to be held for the entire county in the gymnasium of the high school here which is reached through the Paint Street entrance.

Volunteers will act as registrars for the supplemental registration and the hours have been set at 2 P. M. until 9 P. M. each day. The Rationing Board has let it be known that it is counting on women to handle the bulk of the work in the afternoons and men to take over the night shift. Repeated calls for volunteer help have got some response, but it was said at the Rationing Board that still more women could lend a hand.

CAN NOT PARK CARS IN PRIVATE DRIVES

Complaints Made Against Thoughtless Owners

Attention of the public is being called to the fact that under the new uniform traffic code it is an offense for auto owners to park their cars where they obstruct either public or private drives.

Many complaints have reached officers in this city that thoughtless persons have obstructed private drives with their cars. Persons whose drives are obstructed are being asked to notify the police and a ticket will be placed on the offending car.

The only authentic wild horses are found in western Mongolia.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN AND MUCH OTHER PROPERTY

Structure on Tasso Post Farm Is Wiped Out Monday Night

Fire which apparently started in the hay loft, destroyed a sizeable barn on the Tasso Post farm on the Creek road, four miles south of this city, early Monday night.

Origin of the fire could not be determined, as the blaze was well underway when discovered by neighbors.

The fire spread rapidly, so that the only things removed was some farm machinery.

However, the swirling flames soon enveloped the whole building, and destroyed much of the farm machinery, hay, oats and wheat, harness and other property. No livestock was burned.

A sulky plow, disc harrow, wagon, feed grinder and other equipment was included in the loss.

A large quantity of wheat and oats was stored in a granary built in connection with the barn. The structure stood across the road from the farm house, which is occupied by Willard Bonham and family.

There was little or no wind at the time, and a large straw pile within 100 feet of the barn did not ignite.

The loss is partly covered by insurance.

370 FAMILIES GET FREE FOOD

At the present time there are approximately 370 families receiving federal commodities, which are being distributed in decreased amounts in Fayette County.

It is explained that the free commodity list includes aged pensioners, families where there are dependent children, and those on blind relief as well as the public group.

Indications are that the distribution of government commodities will not be as heavy as in past years, although it is possible that during the winter months the amount may be increased.

FAYETTE COUNTY MEN IN THICK OF JAP BATTLE

One Wounded While Aboard Yorktown, Other Is at Guadalcanal

It has come to light that two additional Fayette County men have been in the thick of the fight in the Solomon Islands area, and that one of them, Sherman Bell, son of Mrs. Harry Robinson of this city, was aboard the plane carrier Yorktown when it was sunk, and was wounded.

In a letter just received by Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Sherman states that he and another man who were members of the crew of a U. S. Destroyer, were left in port when the boat left, and were taken aboard the Yorktown which was soon involved in battle and sunk.

Part of his letter was censored, but fragments put together read: "at a Jap plane with a machine gun."

"After the battle I was picked up by another ship and brought back to port. The other fellow got back all right too."

Another part of the letter tells of being wounded in the right thumb by shrapnel and receiving some other "scratches." He did not indicate how long he was afloat before being picked up. Sherman has been in the Navy for nearly four years, and is a petty officer.

Fred M. Dailey, formerly at the Fayette County Children's Home, is the other man who has been in the thick of the fray on the Solomons. He is with the Marines at Guadalcanal.

In a letter to David Whiteside, Home superintendent, Dailey minimizes his part in the big affair at Guadalcanal.

His letter is dated Oct. 27, written from Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands, and says in part:

"There's never a day goes by that I don't think of you folks back home."

I guess you know this is the hottest spot in the Pacific right now, and I don't mean the climate, I won't bore you with any stories because you read of the action in the newspapers.

"I haven't heard from Sherman Bell. The last I heard he was still on the U.S.S. (censored)."

"I'm looking forward to the day all this will end and I can go back home and dig potatoes instead of fox holes; deal with shocked wheat instead of shell-shocked men and sleep in a bed instead of a mud hole."

U. S. DEPUTY MARSHAL TAKES TRUCK THIEF

Stanley Ashcraft, of Lexington, Kentucky, who stole a truck in that city, drove it to Washington C. H. and sought to sell it here, where he was arrested, was turned over to a U. S. Deputy Marshal, Monday afternoon, and removed to Columbus to face charges in the Federal Court.

Moving a stolen motor vehicle from one state to another is a violation of Federal law, and punishment is severe.

Gasoline Rationing and Strike Petition Explained

Members of the Eastside Parent-Teacher Association today had a better understanding of what they could do to lessen traffic dangers to children after hearing a state highway patrolman's talk on "Safety" at the regular meeting Monday night in the school building.

Mrs. W. Stanley Paxson presented the petition the newly formed Militant Wives and Mothers of America proposes to send to the president and congress as an appeal to "get strikes outlawed for the duration" with explanations. She urged each interested person to sign it.

Warren M. Durkee, the school principal, discussed gasoline rationing briefly. The meeting was opened with group singing led by the children of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades and the devotionals were led by Mrs. Thomas Christopher. Mrs. Cecil VanZant, president of the P.-T.A. Council here gave a brief report on the National P.-T.A. Congress held in Akron.

STRIPE STREETS ABOUT SCHOOLS

Additional Striping and Painting Planned This Fall

White paint is being used by the street crew in renewing the traffic marking on streets about the schools in the city.

Monday was the first good day for painting that had occurred recently and the work was carried forward during the day.

City Manager Edwin Ducey said Tuesday that further use of white paint in traffic marking would take place as weather permitted. This will include the crosswalk lines in the uptown area, and the signs to help guide pedestrians and prevent them from walking against red lights.
